Mauritius: The West Coast Advantage

- Ramdanee family legacy – a lineage rooted in hospitality and public service
- Guided by late Founder Sir Kailash Ramdanee's philosophy – the art of authentic Mauritian hospitality
- Shared DNA of service – uniting sister properties Maradiva and Sands under one vision

Our Suites

- 4 categories designed for space and intimacy
- Blues and burnt oranges in the decor drawn from west coast sunsets and the turquoise lagoon
- Luxurious touches – deep tubs and Bvlgari amenities
- Designed as retreats – light-filled, spacious and perfect for slow mornings and barefoot evenings

Pink Peppercorn

- Beachfront dining – just steps from the sea
- Open-air kitchen – watch the chefs at work
- Fresh seafood, with both local and international flavours
- Cosy, relaxed vibe both for lunch and dinner

The image shows an outdoor dining terrace with several tables covered in white cloths, set with white plates, glasses, and cutlery. The tables are arranged on a wooden deck, surrounded by lush green trees and large orange and white umbrellas. The scene is bathed in warm, golden light, suggesting late afternoon or early evening. A semi-transparent text box is overlaid on the left side of the image.

- Tailored menus – crafted by Executive Chef Olivier Catora

A photograph of three chefs in a coastal restaurant setting. Two chefs, a woman in a pink shirt and a man in a dark shirt, are wearing red aprons with a white 'S' logo and tall white chef hats. They are focused on preparing food, with the woman holding a small piece of food. A third chef, a woman in a white chef's coat and a black and white striped apron, is also working. They are standing behind a table with various stainless steel bowls and a silver stand holding a plate of food. The background shows a large tree, a body of water, and string lights, creating a warm and inviting atmosphere.
